

August 2023 Update

VIRTUAL WORK COOPERATIVE

Hello,

We're finished! Voices voiced, opinions heard, thoughts noted, and insights gathered. 120 colleagues from all continents, all levels of seniority, diverse functions, and many industries contributed valuable input. The results are being digested and will be published in a report, which may end up taking the form of a book sometime this fall.

We're not finished! This is just the beginning of the remote workplace evolution, so important insight is to be gained by continuing with the longitudinal study. The second wave of research is already underway.

What do you want? I am grateful for your time, and for referring your colleagues. I would love more of the same, but appreciate you may be tapped out. Pick your poison by visiting the preference page below:

- Change nothing. I want to keep contributing.
- Just send me updates, but I don't want to give more insights.
- Please unsubscribe me; I'll get updates from your website.

Thanks again for your time! I'm looking forward to sharing the full results soon!

Pavla

www.virtualworkcoop.com